CERTAIN LEMON CHALET CRÈME COOKIES DO NOT MEET QUALITY STANDARDS

March 5, 2010 – Girl Scouts in the Heart of Pennsylvania’s cookie supplier, Little Brownie Bakers, recently received notice from a few consumers informing them of an off taste and smell from certain packages of Lemon Chalet Crème cookies. In response, Little Brownie Bakers tested product samples and determined that certain lots of Lemon Chalet Crème cookies contain oils that may be breaking down and can result in an off taste and smell. They further confirmed that the cookies are safe for consumers to eat, but are not up to Little Brownie Bakers’ quality standards.

Little Brownie Bakers has confirmed that Girls Scouts in the Heart of Pennsylvania received some of the affected batches of Lemon Chalet Crème cookies. In order to provide consumers with prompt service, customers may now return the product directly to a GSHPA service center to receive an exchange. To find a GSHPA service center location, customers may call 1-800-692-7816 or visit www.gshpa.org. If customers prefer a refund, they may call Little Brownie Bakers directly at 1-800-962-1718 or visit www.littlebrowniebakers.com.

This is NOT a cookie recall and the affected cookies do NOT pose a health risk. Little Brownie Bakers has also confirmed that no other Girl Scout cookies are involved.
